INTRODUCTION + ACADEMICS

RISD’s Advanced Program Online is a series of intensive, collegiate-level courses for students in grades 10–12* (or the equivalent) who are 15–18 years old. This immersive online experience is designed for those interested in pursuing art and design in college and want to learn best practices in producing portfolio work.

This program is thematic in nature with an emphasis on understanding the role of the artist as an agent of change - by providing permission to reframe the way you look at the world, your art practice and how you collaborate with others.

* For the summer term students who are rising sophomores (grade 10 or the equivalent) or have graduated from high school this year are eligible to attend.

About Rhode Island School of Design

RISD (pronounced “RIZ-dee”) is a creative community founded in 1877 in Providence, Rhode Island. Today, we enroll 2,620 students hailing from 59 countries. Led by a committed faculty, they are engaged in 44 full-time bachelor’s and master’s degree programs and supported by a worldwide network of over 31,000 alumni who demonstrate the vital role artists and designers play in today’s society.

Beyond facts and figures, what is the spirit of this community? Through a cross-disciplinary curriculum of studio-based learning and rigorous study in the liberal arts, RISD students are encouraged to develop their own personal creative processes, but they are united by one guiding principle: in order to create, one must question. In cultivating expansive and elastic thinking, RISD seeks to activate a critical exchange that empowers artists, designers and scholars to generate and challenge the ideas that shape our world. RISD’s mission, at both the college and museum, is not only to educate students and the public in the creation and appreciation of works of art and design, but to transmit that knowledge and make global contributions.
Academics: Overview

The role of artists and designers is, and has always been, to comment and reflect on cultural changes, and to anticipate and inspire changes to come. Current world conditions have brought renewed emphasis on the critical role artists and designers play during times of complexity and uncertainty. The primary goal of the Advanced Program Online is to provide an educational experience that allows students the opportunity to focus on a passion, reflect on contemporary circumstances, and experience the pursuit of art and design topics in depth. This online experience will help students as they learn to be self-motivated, nimble, creative and critical thinkers.

Vital to the RISD academic experience is the engagement and collaboration of students with their peers. The online classroom platform and Zoom sessions, home studio practice and RISD resources provide the means for students to build a community of respect, learning and collaboration in preparation for college.

From addressing the practical challenges of working with limited space and materials outside of a traditional studio, to learning how to find inspiration in the mundane, to developing and sustaining an active art-making practice, students will work independently and through peer connections to understand how constraints might inform exceptional outcomes. During each course students develop work that reflects their unique vision and direction.

Courses are offered year round with varying schedules in the Fall, Spring and Summer terms.

Curriculum

Similar to RISD’s first-year experience, students begin the program by focusing on Essential Fundamentals courses which emphasize the practical skills needed to develop their ideas. Working through a series of prompts, students are challenged through research, material and method exploration to develop work that reflects issues around creativity during times of uncertainty.

Upon successful completion (grade C- or above) of one or more Essential Fundamentals courses students can choose to enroll in a Concentration, which pairs a Featured Topic with a Visual and Critical Language course, allowing for focus on a particular topic and medium.

Students enrolled in one or more of the Essential Fundamentals courses must receive a passing grade of C- or better in order to enroll in the Concentration courses.

Essential Fundamentals

These courses focus on how best to express your ideas and concepts through impactful visual communication. Additionally, you’ll strengthen connections to your own interests and passions by exploring the work of contemporary artists and designers. There will be demonstrations, lectures, presentations, critique, and feedback, all working to strengthen your core skills.

Weekly Student Engagement Time

- Spring/Fall: Students should expect to spend a minimum of 5 hours per week for each Essential Fundamentals course.
- Summer: Students should expect to spend a minimum of 10 hours per week for each Essential Fundamentals course.
Experiential Drawing

In this class, principles and elements essential to drawing are explored through a variety of media and methods. Students may use materials such as charcoal, graphite, markers, collage and water-based paint—as well as found materials and invented tools—in order to explore different processes in drawing. Students learn about a range of compositional strategies. Tonal studies, volume, weight and contour, line and form are pursued through observation and interpretation. Students will draw from observation, research, memory and imagination. We will be expanding the idea of what drawing is and why it is important: a thinking process, a way to explore, a way to solve visual problems, a way to broaden creative passages. Emphasis is placed on developing an active sketchbook practice that serves as an impetus for larger projects and allows others to understand your process.

Exploration In Design

Effective visual communication in all art forms begins with the fundamentals of good design that defines space, unifies the whole and ignites emotional response. In this class, students explore materials to strengthen idea building through investigations in line, shape, color, value, pattern, texture, space and form. These elements will serve as the foundation through which students express personal, as well as global, ideas and concepts. Experimentation with hierarchical scaling, transparency, transition and a variety of approaches allows students to create a personalized collection of studies and completed works. This class will require thumbnail sketches and reworking projects through multiple iterations before arriving at final work. Students employ a range of (wet and dry) media and techniques in exercises and assignments that focus on developing key design sensitivities and student interpretations. From initial sketches to final projects, students develop a core practice to help in the success of current and future work.

Concentration

- Featured Topics (course of choice)
- Visual and Critical Language

Students who have completed either Experiential Drawing or Exploration in Design may want to further their immersive art and design education by choosing to explore a specific area of study.

Featured Topics courses are an opportunity to focus on a singular area of study to harness your skill sets in a particular medium. Students engage in investigatory and iterative practice while also exploring different approaches and materials. These courses conclude with student final presentations.

*To view Featured Topics currently offered, visit our website.

Linked to this experience is the Visual and Critical Language course, where students work through reading assignments on the lives and works of key contemporary artists and designers relevant to the Featured Topic. In addition, they will learn to speak, write and present their own work in clear and well-reasoned ways.

In this course students address where we are today and how artists and designers have used their expressive capacity to reflect on current culture. Through virtual museum, gallery and artist studio tours we will examine what artists and designers are doing and saying about contemporary issues.
and the role their work plays in society and how it can inspire your personal creative work.

Film viewing and reading assignments on the lives and works of key contemporary artists and designers relevant to the Featured Topic will inform you on how creativity and invention always flourish during times of uncertainty. This course emphasizes concept development through research strategies that help avoid the common pitfalls of the cliché, plagiarism and citing inaccurate information. Additionally, students develop the ability to speak, write and present in clear, well-reasoned ways demonstrated through their Featured Topic final presentation.

Weekly Student Engagement Time

Summer

- Concentration: Students should expect to spend a minimum of 20 hours per week engaged in a Featured Topic course and Visual and Critical Language course.

Academic Schedule

Each course in the Advanced Program Online has a unique schedule. Most courses offer multiple sections, with students selecting the schedule that works best for them at the point of registration. Essential Fundamentals courses are offered in Fall, Spring and Summer Terms. To provide flexibility in scheduling and workload, during the academic year Fall and Spring courses are divided into two 4-week sections. These two sections (I and II) are equivalent to the 4-week Summer Intensive session. Due to the workload required, Concentration courses (Featured Topic and Visual and Critical Language) are only offered during the summer.

2023 Schedule

Session I: March 4–April 2
- Exploration in Design I
- Experiential Drawing I

Session II: April 22–May 21
- Exploration in Design II
- Experiential Drawing II

Summer Intensive 2023

Session I: June 17–July 15
- Exploration in Design
- Experiential Drawing

Session II: July 16–August 13

Start dates: Classes begin on the program start date (listed as asynchronous dates on your registration). Students should start engaging with course content in Canvas upon the program start date, which is before the first Zoom class.

End dates: All courses end at 11:59 pm ET on the last day of the session. Students should make sure they’re available to participate in the class up until the class ends. After the course ends, students will continue to have ongoing access to the class, but will not be able to engage (upload, download).

Zoom class sessions: Live class sessions, via Zoom, are three hours in length and meet weekly during the Summer and twice per session during Fall and Spring. Summer live sessions are held on weekdays. Fall and Spring live sessions are held on weekends. Typically these classes are offered in either morning or afternoon schedules (Eastern Time). In all courses, students engage in online coursework and assignments throughout the week to meet assignment deadlines.
ONLINE EXPERIENCE

Throughout the program, students will interact with their instructor and peers in two ways: through live Zoom sessions and through our Canvas online course management system. The instructor uses a mix of live and recorded video sessions to respond to student images and discussion posts, invites students to share in progress work, presents projects and ideas, and connects one-on-one and in small groups—providing direct and responsive support for advanced learning. These courses are a mix of synchronous (live) and asynchronous (recorded) activities. This means:

- Zoom sessions will be at a set date and time (Eastern Time). You will be required to attend and be an active participant.
- In addition to the Zoom sessions you are expected to log into Canvas daily to post images, participate in discussion boards, watch demos and tutorials and keep pace with assignments.
- You’ll have access to the online course content any time of day or night.
- The majority of class content, assignments, demonstrations and tutorials will be online. You will need to schedule your own study, research and creative time.

Class Schedule (Fall and Spring)

Zoom classes meet twice during the term on either Saturdays or Sundays from 9 am–12 pm or 1–4 pm as assigned on your schedule. All class times are in Eastern Time.

Class Schedule (Summer)

Zoom classes meet on days as assigned on your schedule, from 9 am–12 pm or 1–4 pm. During the first session, Essential Fundamentals classes are also offered from 7–10 pm. All classes are in Eastern Time.

- Essential Fundamentals meet one day per week.
- Concentration courses meet two days per week with the Featured Topic instructor. The Visual and Critical Language instructor will visit class each week as well.
Technology Requirements

To successfully engage in each class students will need the following:

• Computer or Laptop (not small devices)
• Connection to high-speed internet service
• Web browser such as Chrome, Firefox, Safari, Edge or Internet Explorer 11.
• Course Specific Software (listed in the course notes if applicable)
• Proper lighting on your face

Accessing Canvas

Communication on how to access Canvas will be sent to the primary email associated with your registration account (cereg.risd.edu). For students under the age of 18, the primary email address is typically the parent/guardian email.

Your course will be available to access on Canvas, our learning management system, beginning at 12:00am Eastern Time on the start date of the course.

Link: https://risdedu.instructure.com/login/canvas (you may wish to bookmark this page for future use, as this is where you will regularly access your course materials).

If this is your first time accessing a course on Canvas, please follow the steps below to set up your account prior to the start of class:

1. Visit Canvas and select “Forgot Password”
2. On this screen, enter your username, which is the same username as your cereg.risd.edu username and then you will receive an email with a link to set up your Canvas password
3. You can then log in using your username and your new password (both your username and password are case sensitive. If, at a later time, you change your username on our registration site, your Canvas username will remain the same as above, and can not be changed.)

Technical Support

Online learning necessitates significant engagement with technology including hardware, software and the internet. Students should confirm that all of their personal equipment, software and services are in good working order prior to the first class.

If you have any issues accessing your account. Canvas provides resources on how to best navigate the LMS and resolve issues. Links to Canvas support are provided in the class portal. Students should review these links when they first log in and throughout the course.

If you are 18+, you can call 877 249-5405 or chat with the Canvas Support Hotline. Click on the Question Mark icon in the far-left global navigation menu.

If you are under 18 a parent or guardian may use the 24 hour Canvas Support Hotline or you may contact the RISD IT Services Help Desk at 401 454-6106 or servicedesk@risd.edu during normal business hours.
RISD’s Online Learning Etiquette

Be prepared
- Test all technology (including camera/video, Wi-Fi, and screen sharing) before the class meeting.
- Read the expectations for class for the given day and come prepared.

Be aware of your surroundings
- Find the quietest space you can for your Zoom meetings.
- Turn off all notifications and make sure your cell phone is on silent.
- Do not have an animated or otherwise distracting/offensive virtual background.

Be aware of yourself
- All students are required to have their camera/video on and be present for the duration of the class. If you need to turn off your video, please reach out to the instructor before the class meeting.
- No one may attend the class on your behalf.
- Students can only attend the Zoom class they are registered for and cannot attend a Zoom class of a different section of the course being taught at a different day or time. Be sure you are visible on camera with adequate lighting. You should be seated during a Zoom meeting, not reclining or pacing the room.
- Mute your audio to start the meeting and when you are not speaking.
- Be presentable in your clothing—no pajamas.
- If you need to leave the meeting briefly, mute your audio and video.

Be courteous
- Don’t stare at your phone, your tablet or anything else while other people are presenting.
- Don’t work on other tasks (like checking email, watching streaming services) during the virtual meeting.
- Try not to interrupt other people when they’re speaking. Use the hand raise function or raise your hand on camera.
- Limit informal private chat with others in the class during the meeting.
- Avoid eating during meetings unless the instructor has specifically encouraged this.

Privacy Online
- Use a virtual background at all times during your Zoom meeting as protection of your privacy.
- Respect other students’ privacy and intellectual property; do not share personal information or images online without permission, or repost other students’ work to public forums.
• Respect your instructor’s intellectual labor: do not record classes or post or share by any means any videos, URLs, links, websites, or other class materials without prior approval of your instructor.

• Do not send or share personal or confidential information via email or learning platform.

• Do not give another person your email or learning-platform username or password or request that someone else log into your account to perform any action in your stead.

Classroom Experience + Homework

In a typical class day, students will be in a Zoom studio course for three hours engaging in group critique, lectures and demonstrations. During the live sessions students may be directed to try new media, tools or concepts to help prepare them for the work they are doing from the class portal for the remainder of the week.

Most of the work you create will be done outside of the live class time to allow dedicated time to develop concepts, research and complete artwork. Homework time is also an opportunity to step back from your work and gain feedback from your peers through the discussion boards.

Art Supplies + Presentation Materials

Students will need a variety of art supplies and presentation materials during the program. Each course will require students to purchase specific supplies. Your supply list will be available on the course site in Canvas at least 30 days before the class start date. Depending on the class and approaches taken by different instructors, generally speaking, students can expect to spend up to $200 for each studio course.

To mitigate cost, students are encouraged to use supplies they already have on hand and believe are similar to the requested item in the supply list. If you are uncertain if an item will suffice, please address it with your instructor at the start of the first class – either through the class portal communication or during a live session. Do not substitute materials without first obtaining approval from the instructor.

Unless otherwise indicated on the supply list, please have all supplies purchased and available to you for the first class.

The Human Figure

To develop a critical understanding of art, as part of the curriculum some classes may utilize images of clothed and unclothed human figures. Under the direction of the instructor, studies of the human figure are designed to develop an awareness of the kinesthetics of the human form, some knowledge of human anatomy and a connection to how artists have addressed the subject.

Artistic Content

Some assignments may require students to represent themselves or others such as in portraiture or figure studies. Students may not produce images of themselves, other students, or other live models in a state of full, partial, or suggestive nudity.

Students considering any nude, sexually explicit, sexually oriented, or potentially controversial subject matter or activities that pose a threat to the health, safety and well-being of the RISD community, must review the project with faculty prior to continuing with the project and submitting the work.

Critique

Essential to the learning process at RISD are studio critiques ("crits"). As you learn to present and discuss your work online and live in front of the instructor, guests and fellow students, you'll grow more comfortable with talking about and articulating your goals. Writing and speaking publicly about your work and the work of your peers is unfamiliar and can be intimidating. However, this process is critical for artists and designers of all backgrounds, and at all stages of their careers, in order to better understand and speak about their work.

You will learn a new vocabulary and use terminology that facilitates giving honest and direct feedback. In addition to giving critique, you are expected to receive feedback in a mature and thoughtful manner. It is essential to the learning process that all students contribute to individual and group critiques and will be graded on their participation.

Homework

Since most of class time is made up of lectures, demonstrations and critique, most of your work will be done outside of the classroom. Homework for all courses is substantial. You’re expected to take initiative both inside and outside of the classroom, including prioritizing your schedule to balance extensive homework assignments. The intensive curriculum of Advanced Program Online is your dedicated time to develop your skills in preparation to build a college application portfolio. Therefore, you should carefully consider the workload of the program and avoid scheduling any competing outside activities and studies such as competitive sports training, AP coursework, SAT prep, vacations, family events, etc. during the program that will hinder your ability to keep up with your work.

Final Projects

The last week of class consists of final critiques and presentations to your class and instructors; equal in importance and intensity to final exams in other subject areas. Attendance at final classes and participation for final projects account for a major portion of your final grade. Your participation is essential to your success in the program.

Transcripts / Grades

Students will receive their final grades via the Student Portal at cereg.risd.edu (not Canvas) approximately four weeks after the end of the semester. You can view your grades and/or print an unofficial transcript by navigating to “My Enrollment History + Transcript.” Grades cannot be sent by email or provided over the phone.

After grades become available students are welcome to request a transcript for your own use or to share with an institution by visiting our [Transcript Request] page. Please note there is a fee to process each request.

Portfolio Review for Summer Term

Summer 2023 Dates TBD

As a participant in the Advanced Program Online summer term, you are eligible for the opportunity to get your portfolio reviewed by a RISD representative. This is a great chance to hear directly from the people who review our applications, reflect on what's successful in your work, and think about what you want to improve on as you prepare for your college applications.

These live, online portfolio reviews are 15 minutes long and conducted by an admissions officer or other RISD-affiliated reviewer. During the summer term, enrolled students will receive an invitation to register for a session as well as information about what to expect.
CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

Certificate Program

RISD’s Advanced Program Online is offered on a certificate track for students who want to expand their skill sets and portfolio. The certificate program is designed for rising high school sophomores, juniors and seniors who are planning to study art and design at college. All students who register for Advanced Program Online course will be automatically enrolled in the certificate.

Students who complete the program engage in a curriculum that emphasizes learning the fundamentals of drawing and design through a variety of materials that can be applied in new and experimental ways. By understanding the fundamentals of methods and materials, students can more successfully visualize their ideas.

In addition to learning how to use creative tools, students develop the ability to research, iterate and evolve concepts that can set their work apart from the ordinary. Critical inquiry into contemporary artists and issues is fostered along with the vital ability to write, speak about and present your work.

The certificate consists of four courses: The two Essential Fundamentals courses introduce students to RISD’s foundational approach to critical making through drawing and design; the two Concentration courses include a discipline-based featured topic of choice coupled with learning to effectively use visual language. Students who complete the certificate will develop portfolio-ready artworks and have the opportunity to meet with RISD admissions counselors to discuss their next steps. Requirements for this program cannot be waived. *

* Students who successfully complete the Pre-College program are eligible to take a Featured Topic in the Advanced Program Online, without completing the prerequisite of an Essential Fundamentals course. The Advanced Program Online courses cannot serve as a substitute for Pre-College classes. Students need to complete the waiver application in the Student Portal.
STUDENT SUCCESS

The essential elements for success in the Advanced Program Online are a passion to create, a willingness to try new ideas, being open to working differently and a strong work ethic.

This is an intensive program and some students may struggle as they learn to work independently within tight deadlines, long-term projects and written assignments. These students may need additional support from family members, tutors and/or other resources not provided by the program.

Each student will be assessed and graded on their engagement and performance, so it’s important to be prepared, limit distractions and have your support systems in place.

Be sure to communicate with your instructor about any questions, concerns or understanding of the class expectations and assignments. The following is a guideline for student success:

Pre-Program Preparation

• Understand the intensity and time commitment of each course (including homework) and the program as a whole. Do not overschedule yourself with competing activities eg. sports training, test prep, schoolwork, family events.

• Prioritize your health and well-being. Keep all your personal, physical and mental health support systems in place during the program.

• Familiarize yourself with RISD student resources such as Disability Support Services and reach out prior to the start of classes. Don’t wait until you’re struggling in the class - be proactive.

• Review all policies and procedures in this handbook and on the website.

Dedicated Creative Workspace

Having dedicated work, documentation and presentation areas are essential to support your creativity and class requirements. Most students do not have access to an art studio, nor is one required to create work for your class. Prior to the start of class, choose a space that you will have continual access to throughout the program. Make sure your workspace includes the following:
• Flat tabletop and/or floor space to work on
• Protective coverings for floors, carpet, wallspace and valued items
• Organized and easily accessible supplies
• Computer access for reference and class interaction
• Wall space to hang your references and work for viewing and presentation during class
• A mirror to view your work in reverse and double the viewing distance in tight spaces
• Good lighting on your work space and on your work when presenting

Documentation and Presentation Area

Proper representation of your work is critical to assure your work is being assessed accurately. Be sure to follow all presentation guidelines from your instructor. Create dedicated space for photographing or videoing your work. The area should include:

• A clean, white area (wall, paper or fabric) that provides extended and uninterrupted space around the work you are documenting
• No distracting items or backgrounds (drinks, tools, devices, etc.)
• Even-spread lighting such as daylight or flood lamp bulbs
• Short chair, stool or step stool to stand on

Student Engagement

In order to successfully engage in online learning students should:

• Enroll and log in on the first day of class (non-enrollment or non-participation will affect your attendance grade)
• Learn how to navigate the course pages
• Review all course content: syllabus, demos, videos and other resources
• Pay attention to and plan your workload in order to meet deadlines (late and incomplete work may not be accepted by your instructor).
• Participate in discussions in the discussion boards, as well as live sessions.
• Be aware that non-engagement with the class can result in suspension and removal from course access.

Time Management

When planning your time, expect to...

• Spend a minimum of 5 - 20 hours on course work per week, depending on the term
• Complete 1 – 2 assignments per week per course
• Consider all aspects of art-making in order to meet the deadline:
  • Review all course content and assignment materials
• Subject research
• Resourcing materials
• Learning and practicing new methods and materials
• Concept development, thumbnails and sketches
• Creating the work
• Cleanup and presentation plan
• Start your projects immediately, don’t wait until the last minute as you will run out of time and your work and well-being will suffer
• Get rest / practice self-care / find balance with schoolwork
• Allow time to document your work – Poorly documented work may have to be redone

Creative Output

When creating...
• Follow instructions and pay attention to details
• Art takes time - It’s not a race. Give yourself the time to produce thoughtful work
• Go beyond the obvious and your first idea
• Be open to new ideas and new ways of making
• Step out of your comfort zone – Take creative risks
• Try again and again, new ideas and great work can come out of iteration
• Focus on craftsmanship

Communication

Proactive and coherent communication during the program is essential. Students should follow all instructions on how, when and where to communicate.

With Your Instructor + TA
• All communication with instructors and the teaching assistant (TA) takes place during Zoom sessions or through Canvas (not through email). It is important to consider the following:
• Your instructor and TA are there to help you; students are expected to advocate for themselves
• Class announcements are posted regularly on the course portal which are also sent to the primary email address on file, so check your email regularly
• Non-communication may be interpreted as non-engagement and a lack of critical inquiry

With Your Peers

Engaging in positive community building and creative support with classmates is a vital component to a RISD education. In fact, we find that offering and receiving support, encouragement and feedback from classmates is essential to our growth as artists and designers. As such, students are encouraged to use the Zoom meetings and course platform to:
• Share ideas and inspiration
• Critique your peers’ work using visual language
• Challenge each other to improve
• Be open to others’ experience
• Respect each others’ perspective

With RISD CE

RISD Continuing Education values all our students and family members and welcomes the opportunity to serve you.

If you are in need of administrative or registration support, or would like to learn about the resources available to you please visit the Student Resources section of this handbook or contact us:

visit: ce.risd.edu

email: risdce@risd.edu

call: 401 454-6200

Generally speaking, RISD CE staff and instructors will return inquiries within 24-48 hours, but that timeframe may be extended during particularly busy times such as registration open dates, program start and ending dates.
HEALTH AND SAFETY

Whether in person or online, the health and safety of our students is very important to RISD. The following information is provided to support parents and students participating in remote learning at RISD.

Student Wellness

One of the significant advantages of online learning is the ability for students to keep their current support systems in place while engaging in college-level learning and expectations. The Advanced Program Online can present the kinds of challenges that you will need to navigate in order to best prepare yourself for college academics. This includes personal well-being, both physical and mental, which for creative learners in particular, might encompass feelings of insecurity while adjusting to the culture of critique. These and other emotional responses are a completely normal part of maturing and gaining independent creative learning habits.

Additionally, students may have challenges that require the ongoing support of local and established resources. To support this process, students and parents should expect to maintain all current, familiar and local resources, as well as acquiring new support as needed. This may include tutors, mental health practitioners, primary and specialist physicians and support groups. For information on the resources RISD provides to our online students, please go to the Student Resources section of this handbook.

Communication

All communications between student and instructor or TA is done through the Canvas learning portal and not direct email. Instructors will typically respond to student inquiries within 48 hours. Instructors are directed to not communicate directly with parents, guardians or anyone other than the student. Parents, legal guardians or emergency contacts, listed on the student registration, who have questions about an Advanced Program Online course, instructor or academics should contact Kristina Byrne, Associate Director, CE Student Experience at kbyrne@risd.edu or call 401 454-6473. Inquiries are responded to during normal business hours.
Student Health Concern

If a student is experiencing a mild health concern that prevents them from participating in the class they should notify the instructor as soon as possible. Once they are feeling better they should follow up with the instructor to catch up with the coursework. If a student is experiencing a more serious health concern or illness that prevents them from participating in the class over a period of several days or more, a parent or legal guardian should contact Kristina Byrne, Associate Director, CE Student Experience at kbyrne@risd.edu or call 401 454-6473. Inquiries are responded to during normal business hours.

Family Emergencies

If a student is experiencing a family emergency that is affecting their ability to participate in the class over a period of several days or more, a parent or guardian should contact Kristina Byrne, Associate Director, CE Student Experience at kbyrne@risd.edu or call 401 454-6473. Inquiries are responded to during normal business hours. If a student is minimally affected (missing 1-2 days of course engagement and are emotionally well) they should notify the instructor as soon as possible and subsequently make arrangements to catch up with the coursework.

Safety Online

Students, parents and guardians should practice all precautions associated with minors engaging on the internet. Along with your your own family’s policies we suggest that you:

• Don’t share personal or contact info with non-classmates
• Use discretion when sharing personal information
• Use a virtual background during live Zoom class times
• Inform your parent or legal guardian if you choose to contact classmates outside of the Canvas platform
• Notify RISD CE immediately if you are contacted by a 3rd party (anyone not associated with the class or RISD CE)
• Report cyber-bullying, sexting or inappropriate behaviors or content to your instructor or the CE office
STUDENT RESOURCES

Students are encouraged to utilize RISD’s available resources while participating in Advanced Program Online. Once enrolled, RISD CE provides new and returning students access to the Student Orientation course. The Student Orientation teaches students about CE, how to use Canvas, and provide answers to frequently asked questions about the student experience, advising, and RISD basics. Additionally, students can learn about how to access RISD student resources online.

For more information about student resources, see below.

Disability Support Services

Rhode Island School of Design Continuing Education attempts to make its classes, programs, events and services accessible by providing reasonable and appropriate accommodations. The office of Disability Support Services assists students who have cognitive (learning), psychological, physical, and chronic medical disabilities. Requests for accommodations should be made at the time of registration. Arrangements for all accommodations requested less than two weeks before the start of the program/course(s) cannot be guaranteed, and many accommodations take time to arrange. It is in your best interest to make your formal requests as early as possible to ensure accommodations are in place prior to the start of the program/course(s). Failure to do so might limit our ability to meet your needs. Please note that modifications cannot be made to program or course curriculum.

Students interested in registering for academic accommodations can connect with RISD Disability Support Services via virtual intake meetings through Zoom. Please reach out to disabilitysupport-services@risd.edu to schedule an appointment or to learn more about how DSS can support you.

Fleet Library at RISD

library.risd.edu

Founded in 1878, the RISD Library is one of the oldest independent art college libraries in the country. Its circulating collection of more than 150,000 volumes offers unusual depth and richness in the areas of art, architecture, design and photography. The collection provides strong historical and contemporary perspectives, and specialized materials in landscape architecture, ceramics, textiles and jewelry support upper-level research. RISD’s specialized library is also noted for its artists’ books collection, its rare books, some 400 periodical subscriptions and collections of outstanding visual resources. There are free/open resources available. RISD CE students may use the library facilities, but do not have borrowing privileges. If you would like borrowing privileges, present proof of current CE enrollment registration at the circulation desk to purchase a one-year borrowing pass for $25. Likewise, your current CE enrollment registration and a photo ID is required for access to the library: simply show it to the public safety officer at the entrance. For questions, please contact risdlib@risd.edu.

RISD Museum of Art

risdmuseum.org

A major cultural institution in Rhode Island, the RISD Museum houses more than 86,000 works of fine and decorative art ranging from ancient times to the present. It is the only comprehensive art museum in southeastern New England and, as such, is a vital cultural resource both for RISD and the broader community. With seven curatorial departments, the museum offers a rich and varied program of exhibitions, lectures, tours, workshops and publications. It is dedicated to the interpretation of art and design from diverse cultures, and to educating and inspiring artists and designers, families, scholarly researchers and students of all ages.

*RISD CE students should identify themselves as RISD students when reserving tickets.

RISD Nature Lab

naturelab.risd.edu

RISD’s Nature Lab is a unique resource for examining, exploring and understanding the patterns, structures and interactions of design in nature. A 1920 graduate of RISD and a long-time faculty member, Edna Lawrence founded the Nature Lab in 1937. Since then its collections – along with specialized microscopes and other equipment for studying them – have continued to grow to include more than 80,000 specimens and other items of natural history. The Nature Lab also houses live animals and plants, a natural history reference library and clipping file, and archives of slides, tapes, videos and x-ray photographs. Several RISD CE classes incorporate scheduled visits to the Nature Lab. Students may use objects in the Nature Lab as reference for their projects. Please email requests and questions to nature@risd.edu.

RISD Store

A wide variety of art supplies, photography supplies, and RISD gear is available at the RISD Store. Additional clothing for adults and children, RISD team apparel, gift items and accessories can be viewed and ordered at www.risdstore.com.

RISD 3D Store

The risd:store 3D stocks a wide variety of sculpture supplies as well as general hardware store items. The risd:store 3D sells sterling silver in various forms along with other jewelry supplies, plywood, hardwood, plexi-glass, glass, and metal rods that can be cut to size for next day pickup.

Public Safety

The Department of Public Safety operates 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. The Public Safety office, located on the ground floor of South Hall, 30 Waterman St., is open 24 hours a day. A public safety monitor is also stationed 24 hours a day at the Public Safety Desk at the entrance to 15 West.

To review the annual Campus Security and Fire Safety Report visit the Public Safety webpage.

Contact Public Safety for all safety and emergency medical concerns on campus (RISD Public Safety officers are Rhode Island EMTs). Uniformed Public Safety officers patrol campus buildings and areas of the city in marked cruisers, on foot, and on bicycles.

Public Safety can be reached at 401 454-6666. You are encouraged to program this number into your cell phone.
ACADEMIC STANDARDS + POLICIES

RISD’s Advanced Program Online is about strengthening your ability to observe, conceptualize, analyze and create. That’s why the carefully balanced schedule of live Zoom sessions and asynchronous learning offer the chance for you to experiment and creatively problem solve. Through the process of both group and independent learning you will sharpen your powers of observation; gain experience with various tools, materials and techniques; learn to analyze and discuss works of art; experiment; challenge ideas, motivations and assumptions and strengthen conceptual development.

Syllabus + Course Expectations

In keeping with collegiate standards, you will receive a course syllabus for each class. The syllabus is your introduction to the course and an outline of the individual instructor’s policies along with the mandatory Advanced Program Online policies. You should keep and refer to syllabi during and after the program as it holds key information for each stage of the class, as well as post-program reference.

Program instructors are art and design professionals who offer you a wealth of knowledge in their area of art and design expertise. Instructors are available to help you if you are ever uncertain about course content, instructions or are struggling with an assignment. You are encouraged to ask questions or seek clarification about the parameters of an assignment. Instructors are also artists and most likely have experienced what you’re going through and can provide you with tools to navigate it successfully.

Academics can move at a fast pace; the classroom or studio-based environment is focused on providing excellence in art and design learning for students and optimum performance support for instructors. Therefore, it is vital that you show up to class prepared with assignments completed, actively engage in discussions and critiques, adhere to the policies and participate at or exceeding academic standards.
Academic Standards

The transition from high school to college presents challenges as well as opportunities. Students attending the Advanced Program Online are engaged in preparation for academic study of the highest standards. To assure the validity of the learning experience, the college establishes standards for student work and life. The policies set forth by the program exist to serve as a guide to ensure the proper atmosphere necessary for academic and social development.

The following are groups of violations that constitute misconduct for which members of the Advanced Program Online community may be held accountable.

Academic Misconduct Overview

RISD seeks to help its students realize their full intellectual, artistic, and personal potential through a distinctive combination of studio and liberal arts courses. The college values the creative process and freedom of expression. The college also honors its responsibility to protect the values and standards of an academic community.

The college recognizes the need for risk-taking and experimentation in a challenging art, design, and liberal arts education. Moreover, the long history of appropriation, subversion, and other means of challenging convention in the arts may, at times, complicate attempts to definitively codify forms of acknowledgement/attrtribution. That said, forms of experimentation that do challenge these boundaries must at all times adhere to the fundamental value underlying academic conduct at RISD: honesty in the creation and presentation of one's work as well as in one's relations to others and their work.

Academic writing must follow conventions of documentation and citation. Others' ideas—whether quoted directly or paraphrased, whether taken from a book, website or lecture—must be clearly attributed both to provide a record of the writer's research and to avoid plagiarism, (presenting another's ideas as one's own.) Visual and Critical Language instructors will often explicitly address documentation expectations, including preferred styles, in class.

In the studio culture, the conventions governing the use and reference to others' work are less clearly defined than in academic writing. These conventions are often defined by particular disciplinary histories and practices and are best addressed in the context of the particular studio experience.

Definitions of Academic Misconduct

Academic misconduct compromises the academic integrity of the college and subverts the educational process. Primary, but not exclusive, types of such misconduct are:

Cheating

The use of unauthorized information, study aids or other materials; communication with, or copying from another student, on papers, projects, tests, or other academic work. It is the responsibility of students to consult with their instructor concerning what materials and types of collaboration are permissible.
Plagiarism

The passing off of someone else's ideas, writing, or work as one's own is plagiarism. Appropriate methods and forms of attribution vary by discipline. Some courses will include instruction in appropriate conventions for citation and attribution within the field. Students are expected to seek out relevant guidelines on their own (the RISD Writing Center offers resources and guidance), to ask instructors when in doubt about standards, and to recognize that they are ultimately responsible for proper citation.

Falsification and Fabrication

The attribution of information or material included in one's work to a false or fabricated source, or the falsification or fabrication of the information or materials themselves.

Unauthorized Reuse

The submission of work to satisfy requirements for one course that has previously been submitted for another course is prohibited. Students are expected to create new work in specific response to each assignment, unless expressly authorized to do otherwise.

Unfair Academic Advantage

For purposes of the Academic Code of Conduct, Unfair Academic Advantage is the theft, destruction, or defacement of, or other interference with the work of other students for the purpose of gaining academic advantage. This includes, but is not limited to, the engagement in activities that place other students at an academic disadvantage, such as theft, concealment, or alteration of needed resources or other materials; or other manipulation of the academic system in one’s favor.

Noncompliance with Course Expectations

The violation of specific course expectations set forth in a syllabus or otherwise provided to the student by the instructor or Advanced Program Online administration, whether verbal or written.

Disruptive Behavior

Interference with teaching, learning, and other activities—disrupting, obstructing, or interfering with the proper conduct of teaching and learning (including noncompliance with course expectations as outlined within documents given by instructors*), other RISD-related activities, or other legitimate activities of other members of the RISD community, or breaching the peace of other members of the RISD community.

*Refusal to follow staff, instructor or course directions and guidelines; initiate or complete assignments; utilize the facilities, materials, equipment and tools properly.

Procedures

If academic misconduct is suspected, the instructors may first speak with the student prior to any action taken to help determine whether the suspicion is warranted. If so, the instructor may then confer with RISD CE administration. RISD CE administration may consult the RISD Coordinator of Student Conduct + Compliance for recommendations or student consult.
Teachable Moments

Mistakes and failures during the program are viewed as teachable moments in preparation for college life. Instructors, staff and administration are here to support students through the process of conduct review and outcomes. It is expected that students are open, honest and forthcoming about their participation in or witnessing of any policy breach.

If an instructor suspects that a student has engaged in academic misconduct, in addition to discussing the matter with the student and administration, the instructor may elect to require the student to redo the assignment correctly, in accordance with academic standards, or reduce the grade on the assignment. If the assignment grade is lowered to a ‘D’ or higher, the student has taken responsibility for their actions and actively engaged in the required reparations, and if the instructor feels no further punitive action is necessary, the incident may be considered a “teachable moment.”

If the behavior is determined to be part of a repetitive pattern or is deemed to be egregious or disruptive to the classroom environment, student body and/or RISD community, further action may be determined by the Assistant Director or designee.

Academic Policies

The actions of our students are a representation of our college community and of the professional and personal communities that we lead. Therefore, a deep and abiding commitment to academic integrity is fundamental to a RISD Advanced Program Online education. The following section outlines the core academic policies that are common to all courses in the program. These policies are in addition to the instructor policies and individual course expectations.

Attendance

Program Attendance + Participation

The RISD Advanced Program Online is an intense academic immersion experience that requires your full participation from first class through the final class.

Attendance is considered attending live classes, logging into the course portal daily to review materials and any specific attendance policy as outlined by the instructor. Participation includes, but is not limited to regularly engaging in group and individual critiques, forums and discussion boards and peer feedback as outlined in the course. Additionally, students should respond, in a timely manner, to prompts and inquiries from the instructor and TA and regularly submit questions to the instructor and TA to clarify course content.

In addition to assignments given during class, each course requires extensive research, study and homework to be accomplished outside of class time.

Because of the rigorous and intense nature of the program, you are required to adhere to the following in order to complete the program:

Attendance and Representation

Only students who are registered through RISD CE may attend the Advanced Program Online class they are registered for. Family members, friends or any person other than the original registered student may not attend the class, access the course portal or substitute attendance or participation. for the registered student.

To assure student’s accurate representation, attendance and support of the class community, all students must have their video camera on and be visible during live class sessions.

Class Attendance

The Advanced Program Online attendance policy requires students to attend all classes regularly and punctually. Participation and attendance are important factors in gaining the most from the program. Absence from class for any reason does not relieve the student from the responsibility of completing all assigned work and may adversely affect the student’s final grade.

Any student who is consistently unprepared for class, fails to attend class and/or log into the course portal, grossly neglects coursework, demonstrates a lack in the English proficiency required for the course, or whose continued enrollment is disruptive to the progress of instruction, may be dismissed from the program. Absences and tardiness are recorded daily on each student’s record and are considered by instructor when they assign final grades.

Weekly Attendance, Assignments and Finals

Each last week of classes is critical to your completion of the program and leads to final student presentations and critiques. Weekly submissions account for a significant portion of your grade in each course following a standard rubric.

Failure to complete or submit assignments will greatly impact your overall course grade. If a personal event or other extenuating circumstance requires missing class, students are required to review their situation with the instructor prior to the class time, which may or may not result in an approved absence. Upon approval the student is responsible for making arrangements to complete any missed assignment. Although a student may receive approval of class absence and/or late submission, an instructor may still deduct from the grade.

Missed Classes + Assignments

Students should arrange to make up assignments and work missed directly with the instructor.

Medical Absences

Students who are unable to attend class due to an illness should notify their instructor immediately. While instructors are sensitive to the needs of students requiring medical care, and will work with students to arrange for completion of any missed work, students who are absent from class for medical reasons are still considered absent and are required to contact their instructors directly to make up any missed assignments as described above.

Absence for Family Events

Students are welcome to attend family or external events that do not require missing class or create obstacles to learning and class participation, such as diminished internet services. Careful consideration should be given to ensure that students attending family events are still given the time needed to complete their homework assignments, so they do not fall behind in their academic course load.
Administrative Procedures and Policies

Academic Reviews

An Academic Review, most often issued by an instructor, is a written notification provided to the student citing behaviors, attitudes and/or actions that are not in keeping with program standards. Should incidents occur in the classroom that are not in line with the academic expectations the instructor will meet with the student to discuss the Academic Review and any issues hindering student performance, make a plan of action for the student to self-correct, implement change and proceed forward in a positive manner.

When significant issues arise, or the student has incurred more than one Academic Review they might be directed to meet with a program administrator. This provides an opportunity for the instructor and other students to stay focused on the curriculum while the student receiving the Review can receive an assessment of how they’re adjusting to the program overall. This is an opportunity to discuss what challenges are presented in this new environment, and learn how to best be supported in finding help, self-correcting and succeeding going forward.

Students are responsible to self-monitor and adhere to policies and behaviors conducive to Academic Standards, and in keeping with all instructor and program policies. If a student is concerned about their performance in a course, they should speak directly about the issue with the instructor.

Grades

Students in the Advanced Program Online receive a letter grade for each studio course and for Visual and Critical Language. Each instructor has their own grading and assessment method and policies that meet the nature, content and expectations of the course and program overall. These policies are outlined in the syllabus and are reviewed by the instructor with students at the beginning of the program on the first day of class. Note for all courses: A is the highest grade possible. A+ and D– are not marked. Incompletes (I) are not offered during the Advanced Program Online.

Performance Review

When student records or information indicate, RISD CE may, under the direction of the Assistant Director of Pre-College + Summer Programs, review a student’s academic, policy adherence, behavior and program participation status. Records reviewed can include overall program and individual class performance, attendance and tardiness, Finals Week attendance and participation, final project submissions, campus partners’ reviews and Code of Conduct breaches, as well as any other area deemed to be relevant to the assessment.

Grade Distribution

Students will receive their final grades via the Student Portal at cereg.risd.edu (not Canvas) approximately four weeks after the end of the semester. You can view your grades and/or print an unofficial transcript by navigating to “My Enrollment History + Transcript.” Grades cannot be sent by email or provided over the phone.

After grades become available students are welcome to request a transcript for your own use or to share with an institution by visiting our Transcript Request page. Please note there is a fee to process each request.
Grade Inquires, Changes or Appeals

All students have the right to be graded fairly and to understand how a course grade is determined. It is, however, the instructor's responsibility to set the grading policy for their course and use their best judgment in evaluating and grading students' work. Once an instructor submits grades for a class with the RISD CE Office, the grades are recorded on the student's permanent record and may change only by following the grade appeal rules and procedures outlined below.

A student who is not satisfied with their final grade may appeal it by following the grade appeal procedure. Once a student contacts an instructor regarding a grade appeal, records of all graded material must be maintained by both the student and the instructor until the matter is resolved. If the instructor is not available, or no longer works at RISD Continuing Education, the program manager should act on behalf of the instructor.

Grades may be appealed for the following reasons:

The student alleges there was a computational or clerical error; the instructor made a mistake in the computation of the course grade, or RISD CE made a clerical error in processing the grade. The student alleges that there were unannounced alterations of assignments, grading criteria, or computational process as stated in the syllabus; or the grade departs from the standards of evaluation set forth in the syllabus. The student alleges unequal application of grading standards or grading criteria in a manner that treats them differently.

Grades may not be appealed for the following reasons:

The student disputes grades for individual assignments or aspects of coursework other than the final grade. No new or revised coursework can be requested by the student or accepted by the instructor as part of a grade appeal process. The student's interpretation of the syllabus, such as claims that an instructor's standards are too high, that assignments are unreasonable, or that other course-related practices or expectations applied to the class as a whole (e.g., an instructor's policy regarding attendance or missed deadlines) are unfair. The student comparison of grade policy with different courses or different sections of the same course. The impact of a grade on a student’s academic progress or eligibility for scholarships, veteran’s benefits, or financial aid.

Grade Appeal Policy

All communications must be done in writing between the student and instructor, beginning with the Informal Grade Appeal within four weeks of receiving the grade. A Formal Grade Appeal must be initiated within six weeks of receiving the grade.

Informal Grade Appeal: If the student believes their grade is incorrect, unfair or needs further explanation, they must discuss the matter first with the instructor. The instructor responds to the student with an explanation of the grade. In most cases, the discussion between the student and the instructor should suffice and the matter should not need to be carried further. If the instructor decides a grade change is warranted, they must notify the student and submit the new grade in writing to the Associate Director, Academic Advising, along with a reason for the grade change. If the instructor does not believe there is merit for a grade change, they notify the student of their decision. If the matter is not resolved, the student may follow the Formal Grade Appeal process below.
Formal Grade Appeal:

I. If, after discussion with the instructor, the student is not satisfied or has additional questions or objections, they must write to the instructor and the instructor will respond specifically addressing the student’s questions and/or objections. If the instructor agrees that a grade change is warranted, they will submit the change in writing. The Associate Director, Academic Advising should be copied on all communications and will contact the student in writing with the results.

II. If the matter remains unresolved, the student should contact the Associate Director, Academic Advising in writing with their concerns. At that time, the Associate Director, Academic Advising will review the request with the appropriate program manager, who will contact the instructor to review their grading policy, included in the course syllabus and specifics regarding the grade, to make a decision regarding the merit of the grade change request. The program manager will inform the Associate Director, Academic Advising, who will contact the student in writing with the result of this discussion.

III. If the matter still remains unresolved, the student may request a meeting with a committee comprised of the Associate Director, Academic Advising, the program manager and/or associate director for business operations and enrollment, providing any supporting materials for consideration. If this committee determines that the grade should be changed, it will request that the instructor make the change, providing the instructor with a written explanation of its reasons. The Associate Director, Academic Advising will contact the student in writing with the result of this discussion. Should the instructor decline to change the grade, they must provide a written explanation for refusal. If the committee determines that the student’s appeal should be denied, the decision is final and the matter will be considered closed. (Note: RISD CE reserves the right to appoint a designee in place of one of the committee members, should they be unavailable to participate.)

IV. If the committee believes that the student’s grade appeal has merit after the instructor refuses to change the grade, it will arrange for an alternate instructor (or related professional) to review the student’s course work and make a final recommendation of the grade. After considering the alternate instructor’s review, the committee will then recommend that the grade be changed, if warranted. The Associate Director, Academic Advising will notify the student and the instructor of the decision and ask the instructor to implement the grade change within ten days. If the instructor continues to decline, the Associate Director, Academic Advising will change the grade, notifying the instructor and the student of this action.

Transcripts

A transcript is an official record of grades, often requested by institutions to which a student is applying for admittance. The Advanced Program Online uses Parchment to process official transcript requests. You may order paper transcripts or e-transcripts, for yourself or for an institution, with this service. To order official transcripts, please visit the Parchment Transcript Request page. Please note that there is a fee to process each request.

Certificates of Completion

Students who complete all of the required courses in the Advanced Program Online with a grade of C- or better, without a withdrawal or dismissal and are in good standing with RISD are eligible to receive a Certificate of Completion. Instructions to access and download certificates will be sent to students approximately three to four weeks after the program ends.

Students who successfully complete the Pre-College program are eligible to take a Concentration in the Advanced Program Online, without completing the prerequisite of an Essential Fundamentals course. The Advanced Program Online courses cannot serve as a substitute for Pre-College classes.

Letters of Recommendation

Students may request letters of recommendation from their Advanced Program Online instructors which may be used for college admission applications, internships and job opportunities. Standards (usually including a grade minimum) for writing and issuing letters of recommendations are at the discretion of the instructor; completing a course in the Advanced Program Online is not a guarantee to receive letters of recommendation. Students should make arrangements with instructors prior to the end of the program to review their policy on providing letters of recommendation.

Here are some basic guidelines:

- Request a letter of recommendation from one instructor whom you feel you have made a good connection with and met their requirements. You do not need to request letters from all of your instructors, as you will want to diversify your collection of letters. For example, you may want one letter from the Advanced Program Online, one from a high school teacher/counselor, and one from a mentor.

- Prior to applying, let your instructor know that you would like to ask them for a letter of recommendation and for what purpose (e.g., a college application, job application, etc.).

- Once you have started your college applications you will be instructed how each institution would like to receive letters of recommendation. Most often you will need to provide the instructor’s name and email address, and the institution will contact the instructor with directions on how to submit the recommendation.

- For college applications and most academic referrals, students should not request a letter of recommendation be sent directly to themselves. Institutions prefer recommendations to be confidential between the instructor and the institution.

About Credit

RISD does not offer credit for the Advance Program Online. RISD is in agreement that the optimum value for our students is in their transcripts and the ability for students to request letters of recommendation from their instructor. We recognize that these elements, along with improvement in skill sets and the artwork created, which may be used for college application portfolios, can weigh heavily in favor of college applicants at institutions worldwide. Additionally, students who complete the Certificate Program have the opportunity to receive a Certificate of Completion.

In preparation for college, it’s important for parents and students to note that it is entirely up to the student’s home institution (high school or college) as to whether they will accept credit for the student’s coursework from another institution. Many criteria, beyond whether the coursework is listed as for credit or not, are considered by the home institution. Some of these may include the student’s current academic standing and curricular track, the institution’s academic policies and the content of the coursework being considered for credit. One institution cannot guarantee that another program or institution will accept their credit unless they have a pre-established agreement. However, RISD's Advanced Program Online offers college-level courses and as such, experience has shown us that most institutions will assess the course syllabi and the work produced, in combination with RISD's reputation of excellence in art and design education, in their decision-making process of course waivers or acceptance of transfer credit.

Students should retain copies of all Advanced Program Online course syllabi to present to other current or future home institutions to assist in their assessment of course content and possible credit.

Notice to People with Disabilities

Requests for accommodations should be made at the time the student is accepted into the Advanced Program Online and at least two weeks prior to the start of the program. Arrangements for all accommodations requested less than two weeks before the start of the program/course(s) cannot be guaranteed, as most accommodations take time to arrange. Failure to make formal requests as early as possible may limit our ability to meet your needs. Please note that modifications cannot be made to the program structure, academic requirements or course curriculum. Learn more at Disability Support Services webpage.

COVID-19 Update: Students interested in registering for academic accommodations can connect with RISD Disability Support Services via virtual intake meetings through Zoom. Please reach out to disabilitysupportservices@risd.edu to schedule an appointment or to learn more about how DSS can support you.

Course Changes

Our new course registration system provides a self-service portal to make changes to enrollment when needed. Students can transfer, drop and withdraw from courses directly on the “My Enrollment History” tab of their Student Portal.

Transferring a Course

Students may choose to transfer to another available course by the transfer request deadline. If there is a difference in tuition students will be charged or refunded accordingly.

Once a class has begun, students may not transfer classes nor attend another section of the same course at any point during the term.

Dropping a Course

Students may drop a course any time prior to the established drop request deadline. Dropped courses will not appear on the student transcript. Depending on when you drop the course, you may be eligible for a partial or full refund, based on our refund policy (below). We will attempt to automatically process refunds as soon as you drop a class. Refunds will typically process in 5 business days.

Withdrawing from a Course

After the drop request deadline, students will still have the option to withdraw from their course until the withdrawal request deadline. No refund is given and a withdrawal (WD) will appear on the student’s transcript.
Refunds are based on tuition only, and are calculated according to the date the drop from a course is initiated. Failure to complete a course does not constitute an official drop or withdrawal, nor does notification of drop or withdrawal to the instructor. There is a $15 fee per course for all drops. Special fees are not refundable after the first class.

In some cases, an instructor may determine that a student has not successfully met prerequisites and recommend an alternative course of study. If notice of this recommended withdrawal is provided to the student in writing on the date of the first class session, the student should contact CE immediately to receive a full refund.

Withdrawal notification received in the RISD CE Office or postmarked:

- 14 or more days before the first class/session: 100% refund, minus $15
- 7-13 days before the first class/session: 50% refund, minus $15
- Less than 7 days before the first class/session: no refund

Processing refunds may take up to two weeks. Refunds of MasterCard or VISA charges are credited to the account that was charged. We do not retain credit card information; therefore, we may need to request your credit card information again in order to issue you a refund.

Dismissals and Violation of Student Code Refund Policy

No tuition or other fees are refunded to students who are asked to leave the program for a violation of school policies or regulations.
CODE OF CONDUCT

All students participating in the RISD Advanced Program Online are required to comply with all program policies and regulations, as well as all RISD policies and regulations; which include but are not limited to the Advanced Program Online Code of Student Conduct.

RISD Advanced Program Online is not limited by this list nor by other published policies when it initiates student conduct actions since it is not possible to anticipate all of the behavior of the population. The program reserves the right to review off-campus incidents involving students to determine if a violation of community standards has occurred and whether resolution through the student conduct process is warranted.

This handbook and the RISD Code of Conduct list policies that Advanced Program Online students are expected to review and uphold.

In addition to the Code of Conduct, students must comply with the Addendum to the 2021/22 RISD Student Code of Conduct as it pertains to COVID-19.

I. Purpose

As participants in the Advanced Program Online, we are engaged in the mutual pursuit of both academic and artistic excellence and social responsibility. The purpose of this Code of Student Conduct is to establish standards for the ways in which we interact with each other in that pursuit and the procedures and consequences for dealing with instances in which those standards are not met.

The Code is neither a criminal nor a civil code and does not operate like one. Our expectations for our fellow participants are a significantly higher standard of conduct than the bare minimum prescribed by law; conduct that is legal may nevertheless still be unacceptable within the bounds of our community.

The standards, procedures, and consequences set forth in the Advanced Program Online Code are intended to serve primarily not as a punitive system, but, rather, as an extension of RISD’s educational mission to guide students in their growth as members of the RISD and broader communities.
II. Applicability

The Code applies to the on-campus conduct of all students. The Code also applies to off-campus conduct of students that, in RISD’s judgment, involves or affects RISD or other members of the RISD community, such as conduct in connection with:

Academic work or other RISD-related educational activities and experiences, such as class projects and field trips;

Activities sponsored, conducted, or authorized by RISD or its student organizations;

Activities that cause or threaten harm to the health, safety, well-being, or property of RISD or members of the RISD community, including the student him- or herself; or Activities that unreasonably disturb the peace and privacy of the RISD community.

The Code applies to all such conduct by a student in the Advanced Program Online. Moreover, RISD continues to have authority to administer the Code with respect to any such conduct by a student while a student in the program, even if the student subsequently completes the Program, withdraws, takes leave, or is otherwise absent from RISD, and even if RISD does not learn of such conduct until after the student completes the program, withdraws, takes leave, or is otherwise absent from RISD.

Students also continue to be subject to federal, state, and local laws while attending RISD. While those laws are separate and independent from the Code and impose different standards, violations of the law may also constitute violations of the Code. In such instances, RISD may take action under the Code independently of any other legal proceeding involving the same conduct and may impose consequences for violation of the Code even if such other proceeding is not yet resolved or is resolved in the student’s favor.

III. Definitions

As used in the Code:

- “Campus” means all lands, buildings, and facilities owned, leased, operated, or used by RISD.

- “Student” means an individual who has paid an acceptance fee to participate in the Advanced Program Online. For purposes of the Code, “student” status begins at the time of such payment, or commenced instruction, and continues until such time as the student completes the program, formally and permanently withdraws, or is expelled. A student who has been suspended continues to be considered a “student” for purposes of the Code.

- “Members of the RISD community” means Advanced Program Online and other students, instructor, staff, volunteers, and Agents; visitors to the RISD campus; and people and entities within the vicinity of the RISD campus.

IV. Standards of Conduct

RISD expects its students to conduct themselves in recognition that they are members of a community engaged in the mutual pursuit of academic and artistic excellence and social responsibility and, therefore, to comply not only with base legal requirements, but also with additional, higher standards that enable and promote that pursuit. Towards that end, all students must:

• Comply with all federal, state, and local laws applicable to their activities; and

• Comply with all RISD Advanced Program Online & Academic Rules; general RISD rules and policies found at risd.edu applicable to their activities, such as RISD’s academic misconduct policy, computer use policy, policy on discriminatory harassment, alcohol and substance abuse policy (zero-tolerance), and environmental health and studio safety rules (note that the Advanced Program rules prevail when they are more stringent than general RISD rules)

• Not engage, or attempt to engage, in any other form of conduct that they reasonably should know is unacceptable within the RISD community. Representative, but not exclusive, examples of such unacceptable conduct include:

  1) Interference with teaching, learning, and other activities – Disrupting, obstructing, or interfering with the proper conduct of teaching and learning (including noncompliance with course expectations as outlined within documents given by instructors), other RISD-related activities, or other legitimate activities of other members of the RISD community, or breaching the peace of other members of the RISD community. Legitimate criticism or other statement of opinion, expressed in a respectful manner, is not a violation of this provision.

  2) Harm to others – Engaging in harassing, abusive, threatening, intimidating, endangering, fear-provoking, dishonest, deceptive, coercive, or harmful behavior toward others, which includes but is not limited to any such behavior conducted via verbal, written, or electronic means. Legitimate criticism or other statement of opinion, expressed in a respectful manner, is not a violation of this provision.

  3) Sexual Misconduct - Engaging in any form of sexual contact or conduct with another without that person’s clear, knowing, and voluntary consent. Sexual misconduct can occur between people of the same or different genders. For purposes of this provision, (a) it is the responsibility of the person seeking to initiate sexual contact or conduct to affirmatively obtain such consent, not of the intended recipient of such contact or conduct to affirmatively deny such consent, and (b) valid consent cannot be obtained from a person whose ability to make decisions is obviously substantially impaired by alcohol, drugs, or other intoxicants or by mental or physical condition; who is unaware that the sexual contact or conduct is being committed; or who is compelled or coerced to grant consent by force, threat of force, deception, or supervisory or disciplinary authority.

Among the most serious types of sexual misconduct are sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual harassment. Sexual harassment includes unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, or other verbal or physical conduct when either (a) submission to such conduct is an explicit or implicit condition of employment or academic success, or (b) submission to or rejection of such conduct is used as the basis for an employment or academic decision, or (c) such conduct has the purpose or effect of either (i) interfering with another’s ability to participate in RISD’s educational programs or employment opportunities, or (ii) creating an intimidating or hostile working or academic environment. Cases involving or including charges of sexual misconduct will be reviewed and determined under the separate “RISD Sexual Misconduct Procedures”.

4) Weapons – Using, displaying, or possessing objects or substances whose primary purpose is to cause or threaten harm, which include but are not limited to water guns, firearms, pellet guns, ammunition, slingshots, switchblade knives, explosives, or any realistic toy or model of such items, even if otherwise permitted by law; or using any other objects or substances to cause or threaten harm.

5) Drugs, alcohol, and other harmful substances– Using, possessing, or distributing, or voluntarily remaining in the presence of others who are using, possessing, or distributing, drugs or drug paraphernalia, alcohol, or other harmful substances in a manner that is prohibited by law or RISD policy, that is for purposes other than those for which they are intended, or that otherwise is potentially harmful to oneself or others.

RISD’s Advanced Program Online has a policy of zero tolerance for such student involvement with drugs and alcohol, regardless of whether the student is involved directly or only by remaining in the presence of others involved, and regardless of whether the violation occurs on or off campus. Students found responsible for violating the Advanced Program Online Code of Student Conduct in this regard will be immediately dismissed from the program.

6) Harm to property – Stealing, destroying, damaging, or misusing RISD Property or the property or services of others, or possessing or using RISD/others’ property or services without their authorization.

7) Failure to comply with authority – Failing to comply with the instructions or admonitions of RISD officials, including but not limited to Advanced Program Online instructor and staff, RISD Public Safety, or any faculty or staff member employed at the institution, obstructing them in the course of performing their duties, or refusing to provide them with identification when requested.

8) Dishonest conduct – Furnishing false information or making a false report to RISD officials; falsifying, altering, or misusing RISD records; or cheating, plagiarizing, or any other kind of academic misconduct.

10) Interference with Code administration – Refusing to participate in, interfering with, or retaliating against anyone for participating in the administration of the Code.

12) Noncompliance – Failing to comply with the terms of any consequences imposed under the Code or any behavioral contracts entered into under or apart from the Code.

V. Advanced Program Student Conduct Process & Procedures

1. Applicability:

Because the purposes of the Code are different from the purposes of law, the procedures by which the Code is implemented are, by design, more informal and less adversarial than those of a court. The following procedures generally will be followed in reviewing and determining allegations of misconduct under the Code. At RISD's discretion, however, these procedures may be supplemented or modified as appropriate to the situation. The standard of proof required is a preponderance of evidence, i.e., the evidence demonstrates that it is more likely than not that the conduct occurred.

2. Procedures:
Program Conduct Meeting: Any alleged Code or General program violations which could result in dismissal are usually determined by associate director and/or their designee. Violations that warrant such a Program Conduct Meeting include but are not limited to: academic and classroom behavior; illegal drugs or alcohol, or any other illegal behavior; repeated violations of community standards; environmental health and safety. The procedure for the processing such violations is as follows:

The student will be given notice to report to a designated office (via zoom meeting) at a designated time.

The student will meet with the Assistant Director of CE Student Experience or designee, to discuss the student’s involvement in the incident. If the student is found to have more likely than not committed the violation, the following sanctions are possible, which include but are not limited to:

- A formal written warning
- Educational or work assignment (project, presentation, service, mandatory class or instruction, etc.)
- Probation
- Dismissal from the program.

All decisions are final, and no appeals will be granted

Program Dismissal

No tuition or fees are refunded to students who are asked to leave the program for violation of RISD policies.

Academic Disclosure

It should be noted that RISD Admissions is notified of students who are found to have engaged in significant misconduct during the program, or who have been dismissed or have withdrawn from the program. Each situation is assessed individually, and such a notification does not necessarily mean a student will be precluded from future admission. However, RISD may, in its sole discretion, deny the student admission to any other program administered by RISD, including but not limited to RISD's full-time college program.

Students who are applying to other similar educational programs or to college or university may be asked if they have ever been found to have engaged in misconduct and/or disciplined in any prior academic program, and they should disclose any such findings or discipline in the program. Students should also note that RISD may, in its sole discretion, disclose any such findings or discipline to other programs to which they may subsequently apply.

Discrimination and Harassment

RISD’s Non-discrimination Policy and the RISD Code of Student Conduct both prohibit any sort of discrimination or bias towards any member of the RISD community and beyond. While this is not a new expectation, we feel it is important to include here, so as to make sure we are all committed to creating a safe and equitable environment.
Conduct in Virtual Settings

Students are expected to conduct themselves in a respectful and supportive manner at all times, while recognizing the additional stress on all RISD community members due to COVID-19.

See Academic Code of Student Conduct Addendum

All members of the RISD community are expected to create an environment in support of COVID-19 reduction by following and promoting these guidelines.

Students and any member of the RISD community may also report any unsafe behavior related to COVID-19 RISD using the following link.

RISD may, at its discretion, enforce violations of these expectations through its existing Code of Student Conduct, section VB of which states: “[All students are expected to] Comply with all general RISD rules and policies applicable to their activities, which include but are not limited to the policies found on any RISD website or document.” Response to violations may be different depending on the behavior.

For example, some minor violations of the COVID-19 guidelines may be addressed by simple reminders to community members to abide by the guidelines. Other responses may include coordination of support measures to assist students in meeting the guideline requirements.

More serious violations, including direct/intentional refusals to adhere to RISD’s COVID-19 efforts, may result in engagement of the formal conduct process found at https://policies.risd.edu/student-life/code-of-student-conduct
COMMUNITY STANDARDS

Notice of Student Rights with Respect to Education Records (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) affords you certain rights with respect to your education records.

These rights include:

1. The right to inspect and review your education records (with certain limited exceptions) within 45 days of the day RISD receives your request for access. You should submit any such request to Continuing Education in writing, identifying the records you wish to inspect. Continuing Education will make arrangements for access and notify you of the time and place where the records may be inspected. Records that are customarily open for student inspection will be accessible without written request.

2. The right to request the amendment of your education records if you believe them to be inaccurate. You should submit any such request to Continuing Education in writing, clearly identifying the records that you want to have amended and specifying the reasons you believe them to be inaccurate. Continuing Education will notify you of its decision and, if the decision is negative, of your right to a hearing regarding your request for amendment. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to you at that time.

3. The right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in your education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent.

One such exception permits disclosure to “school officials” with “legitimate educational interests.” A “school official” is any person employed by RISD in any administrative, supervisory, academic or research, or support staff position (including public safety and health services staff); any person or company with whom RISD has contracted to provide a service to or on behalf of RISD (such as an attorney, auditor, or collection agent); any person serving on RISD’s Board of Trustees; or any student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks. A school official has a “legitimate educational interest” if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill the official’s professional responsibility.

Another such exception permits RISD to disclose your “directory information”, consisting of your name; local, home, and email addresses; local and home telephone number; enrollment status/rank; dates of attendance; certificates received; student ID number, user ID, or other unique personal identifier used by the student for purposes of accessing or communicating in electronic systems; most recent educational agency or institution attended; and photograph, to anyone within the RISD community and to the general public.

Students who wish to have their directory information withheld must notify Continuing Education in writing. Please note that such a notification will prevent Continuing Education from providing your directory information to your friends, prospective employers, arts organizations, and others with whom you may wish us to share such information, so make your decision carefully. You may give such notification at any time, but it will be effective only prospectively. Upon request, RISD also discloses education records without consent to officials of another school in which a student seeks or intends to enroll or where the student is already enrolled so long as the disclosure is for purposes related to the student’s enrollment or transfer. Information on other such exceptions is available through Continuing Education.

4. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by RISD to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The name and address of the office that administers FERPA is: Family Policy Compliance Office, U.S. Department of Education, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20202-4605.

Title IX at RISD

RISD is committed to creating and providing a learning, living and working environment free from gender-based discrimination. Gender-based discrimination, including sexual misconduct, stalking and intimate partner violence, committed by members of our community, guests and visitors will not be tolerated. All members of our community, including guests and visitors, are expected to conduct themselves in a manner that does not infringe on the rights of others.

RISD complies with all applicable state and federal statutes, including Title IX of the federal Higher Education Amendment of 1972, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex under any education program or activity receiving federal financial aid. Sexual assault and sexual harassment are forms of sex discrimination prohibited by Title IX.

Any student, faculty or staff member who has concerns about sexual discrimination, including any concerns pertaining to sexual misconduct, is encouraged to seek assistance from our coordinators (listed below).

Coordinators can provide information about resources for assistance and about options for addressing concerns. Those options may vary depending on the nature of the complaint, whether the complainant is a student, faculty or staff member, the wishes of the complainant regarding confidentiality, and whether the complainant prefers to proceed formally or informally. Together, these advisors play an integral role in fulfilling RISD’s commitment to provide a positive learning, teaching and working environment for the entire community.
